

Shelburne Farms Shoreline

Shelburne, Vermont

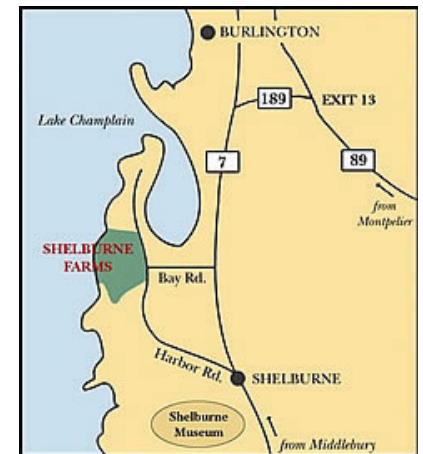

In 1982 the Lake Champlain Land Trust worked with the Webb family to conserve several miles of forested shoreline within what is now the historic and world renowned Shelburne Farms. A walk along the shoreline of this unique property takes you through mature Limestone Bluff Cedar-Pine forest with views of the lake beyond. This unique natural community, found only along the lakeshore in Vermont, is becoming more rare as shoreline is developed. The best way to view the protected shoreline, as well as Lake Champlain and the Adirondack Mountains, is to take the trails to the top of Lone Tree Hill.
